If you are self-hosted, you will need to re-register your Alexandria. Navigate to the Help menu and select "Update Registration." If COMPanion is cloud-hosting your data, the registration will be updated for you by our staff when you purchase NoveList. If you purchased NoveList at the same time you purchased Alexandria, you may not need to re-register.

Your NoveList subscription date, which is separate from your Alexandria subscription date, expires on:

NoveList will not function until the profile information is filled out in Alexandria.

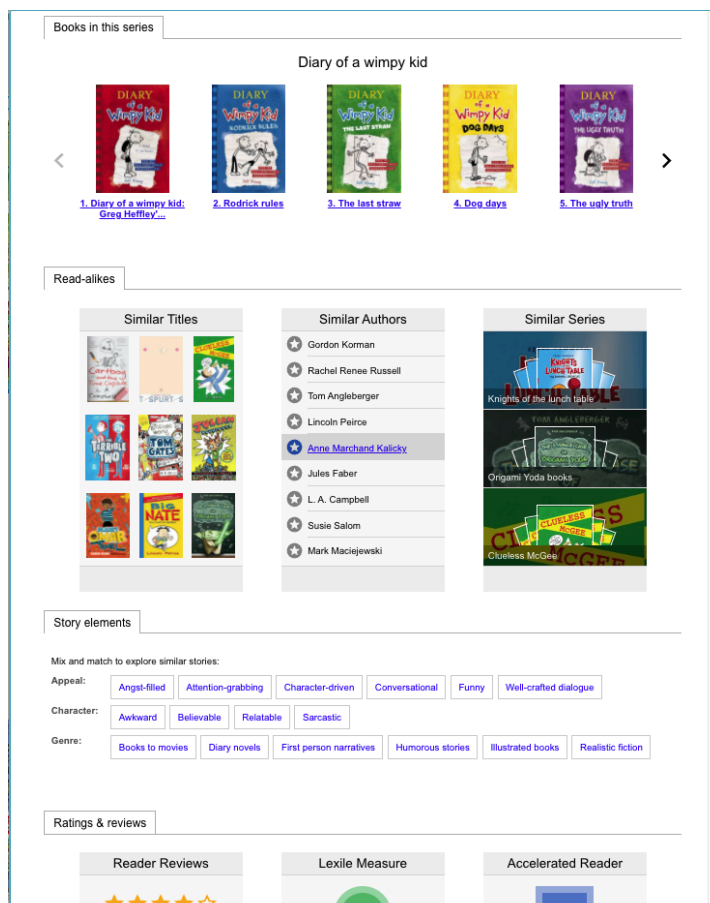

Enter your NoveList profile information into Alexandria's preferences to enable communication between Alexandria and NoveList servers. You will find the NoveList preferences at Preferences > Services > NoveList.

Once you have registered for NoveList and configured Alexandria's preferences, NoveList will be available to your patrons. You can test if it is working by performing a search in Alexandria Researcher. From the results list, select the arrow in the right corner to expand the details.

Click the NoveList option at the bottom, which will expand its content. From there, you can select any available links to perform searches for the recommended titles.
